CENTER FOR AUTISM

University of Kentucky basketball greats, Josh Harrellson and Jeff Shepherd visited the Highlands Center for Autism.

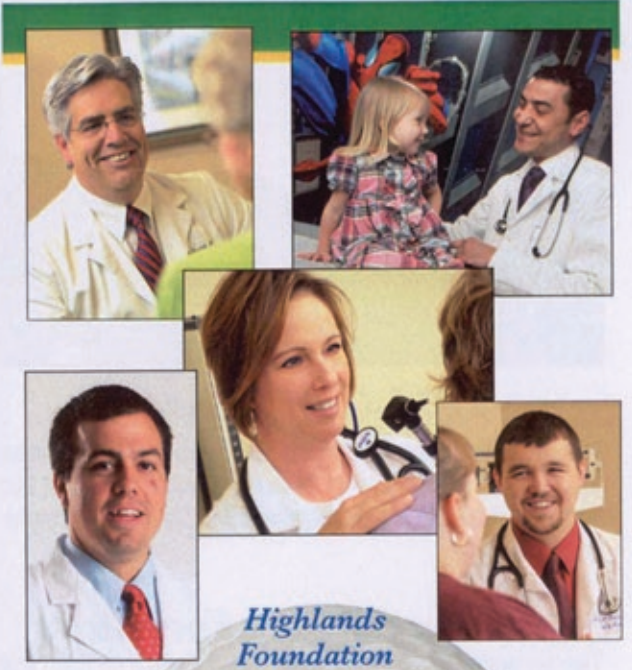

Highlands Center for Autism is the only center based program in Kentucky using ABA in a clinical educational setting. Since its opening in July 2009, the Center for Autism has seen remarkable progress. The most pressing need at this time is for scholarships to allow many of the over 100 deserving children on the waiting list an opportunity to attend the program. Simply put – we need your help. All proceeds from the 2011 Golf Classic, after tournament expenses, will be used for scholarships. Your participation in the Golf Classic will help provide a positive change in the life of a child with autism.

Governor Steve Beshear visited with staff and students at the Highlands Center for Autism.
